Is the Trinity in Mark?

Mark?

Mark 1:1 – “The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God” (ESV).

Mark opens his gospel by briefly mentioning basically the theme of his gospel, and what it will prove — ‘that Jesus Christ is the Son of God’.

“Some important manuscripts here omit the Son of God” (NAB note on Mark 1:1).

One important point that we can glean from this is that no manuscripts of Mark 1:1 call Jesus ‘God,’ or ‘God the Son.’

Mark 1:9-11 – “Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee and was baptized in the Jordan by John. On coming up out of the water he saw the heavens torn open and the Spirit, like a dove descending upon him. And a voice came from the heavens, ‘You are my beloved Son, with you I am well pleased’” (NAB). In this scene, Jesus is in the water, and is obviously not the holy Spirit that came down upon him, or God, who is in heaven. The holy Spirit, rather than being portrayed as a person, or intelligent entity, is coming down in the air “like a dove”. Trinitarians assert that these scriptures support the Trinity in Mark. How? Trinitarians count, one, two, three . . . there’s the Trinity! The mention of the three together doesn’t make them a Trinity in Mark, any more the mention of “Stephanus, Fortunatus and Achaichus” (1 Corinthians 16:17) together make them a Trinity. As we can see, not one aspect of the Trinity doctrine is supported in these verses. There is no equality, no existing from eternity, nothing about being Almighty, nothing about all three being God, being the same “being”, or of the same “essence”, or “substance”, etc.

Mark 1:13 – “He remained in the desert for forty days, tempted by Satan” (NAB). – Since “God cannot be tempted by evil” (James 1:13 NRSV), so Jesus cannot be God, because “Jesus, the Son of God . . . was tempted in every way, just as we are” (Hebrews 4:15 NIV).

Mark 1:24 – “Jesus of Nazareth . . . I know who you are-the Holy One of God!”

(NAB) – “The Holy One OF God”, Jesus, is obviously not God.

Mark 2:5-7 – “When Jesus saw their faith, he saw to the paralytic, ‘Child, your sins are forgiven.’ Now some of the scribes were sitting there asking themselves, ‘Why does this man speak that way? He is blaspheming. Who but God alone can forgive sins?’” (NAB). Does this assertion made by Jesus’ enemies, that, ‘only God can forgive sins’, mean that Jesus is God, as Trinitarians claim? Notice next Jesus’ favorite title that he uses to describe himself:

Mark 2:10 – “The Son of Man has authority to forgive sins on earth” (NAB). – “The Son of Man” cannot be God, since “God is not a human being” (Numbers 23:19 NAB), whereas “the Word [Jesus] became flesh” (John 1:14). When Jesus was born on earth, he was “fully human in every way” (Hebrews 2:17 NIV), so he could not be God. The ‘authority to forgive sins’ had been bestowed on Jesus as God’s “representative” (John 5:43 Williams New Testament), obviously. God doesn’t need anyone’s authority to do anything. “He does whatever he pleases” (Job 23:13 NIV). Regarding Jesus’ authority, Matthew 9:8 says, “The crowd . . . praised God for sending a man with such great authority” (NLT 2013 edition). Jesus admitted, “I have not spoken on my own authority, but the Father who sent me has himself given me commandment – what to say and what to speak” (John 12:49 NLT). Jesus said, “God sent me” (John 8:42 NIV), so he could not be God.

Mark 2:28 – Jesus once again refers to himself as “the Son of Man”. “The Son of Man” cannot be God, because “God is not a man” (Numbers 23:19).

Mark 3:11 – “You are the Son of God”. Even the demons, whom he cast out, knew who he was, and admitted it. He was never called “God”, or “God the Son,” a Trinitarian concoction never used in the Bible.

Mark 5:7 – “Jesus, Son of the Most High God”. Once again, Jesus is called ‘God’s Son’, this time by a demon-possessed man, but not “God the Son,” a Trinitarian mythological concoction never used in the Bible.

Mark 6:4 - “A prophet is not without honor except in his his native place and among his own kin and in his own house” (NAB)– Jesus calls himself “a prophet” – which is one who represents God. A prophet, by definition, cannot be God himself. Jesus said, “I came as my Father’s representative” (John 5:43).

Mark 8:29 - “‘Who do you say that I am?’ Peter said to him in reply, ‘You are the Messiah’” (NAB), – not “God”, and not “God the Son”, which is a Trinitarian concoction that is never used in the Bible. This would have been the time to identify Jesus as God, if that’s what Peter believed. It would also have been the time for Jesus to adjust Peter’s thinking, and let him know he was God or Trinity, if that were the case.

Mark 8:31 - “the Son of Man must suffer”. “Although He was a Son, He learned obedience from the things which He suffered. And having been made perfect . . .” (Hebrews 5:8,9 LSB). God has never been on earth, so he has never suffered. “No one has ever seen God” (1 John 4:9). Since Jesus suffered on earth, and was seen by many, he cannot be God. God is “perfect in knowledge” (Job 36:4; 37:16), so he does need to learn anything. Since Jesus did learn from his sufferings, for this reason also, he can’t be God.

Mark 8:38 - “the Son of Man... when he comes in his Father’s glory”. The Son of Man is not God, because “God is not a man” (Numbers 23:19).

Mark 9:7 - “a voice came from the cloud: ‘This is my Son.’” – In this transfiguration scene, “God [is] in heaven” (Luke 15:18,21), Jesus is on earth, and God calls him his “Son”. Obviously, they are two entirely separate and distinct, different people, who are not of the same “essence”, or “substance”, or “being”.

Mark 9:9 - “until the Son of Man had risen from the dead” – The Son of Man is not God, because “God is not a man” (Numbers 23:19), plus “God . . . will never die” (Habakkuk

1:12 NIV), and “this Jesus God resurrected” from the dead (Acts 2:32 HCSB; Revelation 1:18).

Mark 9:12 “the Son of Man must suffer much”. God is not the Son of Man, because “God is not a man” (Numbers 23:19), and stayed in heaven (Matthew 6:9), not suffering on earth.

Mark 9:31 - “the Son of Man is going to be delivered into the hands of men ... and they will kill him” - The Son of Man can’t be God, because “Christ died” (1 Corinthians 15:3), whereas “God . . . will never die” (Habakkuk 1:12 NIV)..

Mark 9:41 - “you belong to the Messiah”. The Messiah obviously cannot be God.

Mark 10:17,18 - “A man ran up to Him and knelt before Him, and began asking Him, ‘Good Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?’ And Jesus said to him, ‘Why do you call me good? No one is good except God alone.’” Obviously, Jesus was saying that he’s not only not God, but is inferior to God. Thus, the scriptures disprove the “equality” aspect of the Trinity doctrine.

Mark 10:33 - “the Son of Man will be delivered over”. The son of Man is not God, because “God is not a man” (Numbers 23:19).

Mark 10:40 - “James and John . . . said to Him, ‘Grant that we may sit, one on Your right and one on Your left, in Your glory . . . But to sit on My right or on My left, this is not Mine to give” (LSB) - If Jesus says he doesn’t even have that much authority, then who does? - It must be his Father. Jesus here shows his inferiority to his father. Jesus admitted, “I have not spoken on my own authority, but the Father who sent me has himself given me a commandment what to say and what to speak” (John 12:49 ESV). “He has given him authority to judge because he is the Son of Man” (John 5:27 NIV). Jesus is totally dependent upon his Father for his authority.

Mark 10:45 – “the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve.” God doesn’t serve anyone, but Jesus does, which shows their entirely separate natures.

Mark 10:47 – “When he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to shout ‘Jesus, Son of David.’” – Notice, Jesus is never called “God”, but here he’s called “the Son of David”, an expression that cannot apply to God. God is no one’s son. This is another proof that Jesus cannot be God.

Mark 10:51 – “The blind man said, ‘Rabbi,’” – He called Jesus “Rabbi”, meaning teacher, not God. Teacher is one of Jesus’ titles, but God isn’t.

Mark 11:9 – “God bless the One who comes in the name of the Lord.” This is a fulfillment of Psalm 118:26, “Blessed is the one who comes in the name of Yahweh” (LSB), referring to Jesus coming in the name of Yahweh, which means that Jesus cannot be Yahweh.

Mark 11:21– “Peter said to Him, “Rabbi . . . ” (NASB) – Rabbi means teacher, which was one of Jesus’ titles, but Peter did not call Jesus God. In fact, neither did anyone else in the Bible.

Mark 11:22 – “Jesus said to them in reply, ‘Have faith in God’” (NAB), which means Jesus isn’t God, referring to his Father as God. Jesus was illustrating in the case of the withered fig tree, how faith in God can ‘move mountains’ (verse 23).

Mark 11:25 – “So that your Father in heaven may forgive you” (NIV). The Father in heaven is the one who grants forgiveness, not Jesus.

Mark 11:28,29 – “Who gave You this authority? . . . by what authority I do these things” – Someone gave Jesus his authority. Who?

Mark 11:33 – “Jesus said, ‘Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things'" (NIV). Where does Jesus' authority come from? Jesus said, "I have not spoken on my own authority" (John 12:49 ESV). "The Father . . . has given him authority to judge because he is the Son of Man" (John 5:27 NIV). Jesus' authority comes from God the Father, which proves he is not only not God, he's not even equal to God.

Mark 12:6 - "They will respect my son." - Jesus, the Son, inferior to his Father.

Mark 12:7 - "took the son, killed him" - Jesus "Christ died" (1 Corinthians 15:3)

Mark 12:12 - "knew that the story was about them" - killing the Son, Jesus. Since "God . . . never dies" (Habakkuk 1:12 NJB), Jesus cannot be God.

Mark 12:14 - "You teach the truth about God's way." - Not Jesus' way, or the Trinity way, but "God's way".

Mark 12:29 - "Jesus answered, "The foremost is, 'HEAR, O ISRAEL! THE LORD OUR GOD IS ONE LORD" (NASB) - "One" is the Greek word "heis", meaning the numerical one, not a compound unity, as Trinitarians would have us believe. Not two or three, not divided, not Trinity. The main teaching of Jesus, he said, was that 'God is one person only', "God is only one [Greek: "heis"] (Galatians 3:20 NASB), which flatly contradicts the Trinity doctrine of a 3-in-one God.

Mark 12:30 - "Jesus answered, "The foremost is, 'HEAR, O ISRAEL! THE LORD OUR GOD IS ONE LORD" (NASB)- The greatest commandment is to love God, not Jesus or Trinity.

Mark 12:32,33 - "He is one and there is no other but he. And to love him with all your heart . . . " (NAB). God is referred to as being only "one" and by the singular personal pronouns "he" and "him". Jesus confirmed that the scribes' description of God was correct (Mark 12:34).

Mark 12:33 – “sacrifices we offer to God”, not Jesus, or Trinity.

Mark 12:35 – “the Christ is the Son of David” – God is not the son of David, nor is he anyone’s “son”.

Mark 13:26 – “the Son of Man is coming” – God is not the Son of Man

Mark 13:32 – “No one knows... not even the Son. Only the Father knows.” –

Trinitarians claim that Jesus is omniscient. This verse proves otherwise, because Jesus admitted he didn’t know when the end would come. If Jesus is God, how could he not know everything? – The Son, Jesus, doesn’t know the day and hour, only God the Father does – obviously the two are separate and distinct individuals, they’re not of the same “being”, “substance”, or “essence”, and the Father is superior to the Son. Trinitarians’ claim that Jesus was Almighty God on earth is soundly refuted by this one scripture.

The same thing is true for the holy Spirit, that is, that no one knows the exact time of Jesus’ return but the Father. If the Holy Spirit is really a person, the third person of the Trinity, how could it be kept out of the loop about this extremely important prophetic event? Are we to believe that one or two members of this exclusive Trinitarian “Godhead” could keep a secret from the other two members, while at the same time sharing the same eternal and divine “essence” of being the one true God?

Since God knows things the Son doesn’t, obviously, God is superior to Jesus, they are two different, distinct and separate individuals.

Mark 14:21 – “For the Son of Man must die, as the Scriptures declared long ago” (NLT). “The Son of Man” is Jesus, not God. “Christ died” (1 Corinthians 15:3), but “Yahweh . . . God . . . never dies” (Habakkuk 1:12 NJB), so Jesus cannot be God

Mark 14:24 – “My blood which is the new covenant that God makes with his people” – Yahweh God, the superior one, makes “the new covenant” and seals it with Jesus’ blood. Jesus is “the mediator of a new covenant” (Hebrews 9:15). “SAYS YAHWEH . . . I WILL MAKE A NEW COVENANT” (Hebrews 8:8 LSB margin). Jesus’ blood was shed in his sacrificial death. Since “God . . . never dies” (Habakkuk 1:12 NJB), Jesus cannot be God.

Mark 14: 36 – “Abba, Father! All things are possible for You; remove this cup from Me; yet not what I will, but what You will” (LSB). – Obviously Jesus is speaking as a subordinate to his Father, which proves they are separate persons, and that “the Father is greater than” Jesus (John 14:28).. Jesus was not praying to himself, nor was he praying to a Trinity. In saying ‘all things are possible for you’, Jesus is referring to his Father’s Almightyness, in contrast to his total dependence upon his Father (John 5:19; Hebrews 5:7,8). By mentioning both his will and his Father’s will as being different, the separate identities of Jesus and his Father are highlighted.

Mark 14:41 – “Son of Man”, who, by definition, cannot be God.

Mark 14:61 – “Are you the Christ, the Son of the blessed God?” – Jesus is referred to as the Son of God, but never in the scriptures as God the Son.

Mark 14:62 – “You will see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of God.” – This makes Jesus entirely separate and distinct from God. “Sitting at the right hand of God” means that Jesus cannot be God. God is shown to be an entirely separate person.

Mark 14:64 – “You heard him say these things against God.” – His enemies slanderously accused Jesus of speaking against God, not against himself. Obviously, his opponents did not think of Jesus as God.

Mark 15:2 – “Pilate asked Jesus, ‘Are you the King of the Jews?’” – There was no charge from anyone of Jesus being God, or claiming to be God..

Mark 15:18 – “Hail, king of the Jews” – Jesus was accused of being a king, but not of trying to be God.

Mark 15:26 – “A sign with this charge against Jesus written on it: The King of the Jews.” There was nothing about Jesus supposedly claiming to be God.

Mark 15:32 – “The Christ, the King of Israel”. Jesus was accused of being a king, but not of trying to be God.

Mark 15:34 – “My God, my God, why have you abandoned me?” – Obviously, Jesus is not claiming to be God, because he’s crying out to God, his God. Jesus refers to God as someone other than himself.

Mark 15:39 – “Truly this man was the Son of God!” (NAB). The Roman army officer at the execution site correctly perceived that Jesus was “the Son of God”, and had no thought that Jesus might be God himself. Neither did anyone else.

Mark 16:6 – “Jesus from Nazareth... He has risen from the dead.” – Since God is “eternal” and “never dies” (1 Timothy 1:17; Habakkuk 1:12 NIV). Jesus can’t be God because “Christ died”, and “was dead” (1 Corinthians 15:3; Revelation 1:18). “God has resurrected this Jesus” (Acts 2:32 HCSB).

Is the Trinity in Mark? Throughout the Gospel of Mark, Jesus is called the Son of God, the Son of Man, the Son of David, and other titles, but never is he called God, or God the Son. The holy Spirit is not shown to be a person in the Gospel of Mark. We have now thoroughly examined the Gospel of Mark on this subject, and have not found any evidence of any aspect of the Trinity doctrine.
